

Couch To 10K Training Plan

Congratulations! You've decided to keep your fitness going & up the ante' a bit with the 10K. Good on you for pushing boundaries & wanting to be better. This plan is designed for the beginner in mind, but builds off the 5K plan and assumes you have a base of run training under your belt. It still incorporates functional fitness training days, 3 runs, an active recovery/mobility day and healthy habits check points. By no means do you need to follow this to the letter but if you do we're confident you'll have a great race experience and be more fit because of it. If you have questions please don't hesitate to text The Forge hotline at 248-587-8184. Happy training!

Mobility

Our favorite lower body mobility series. Feel free to use any and all of it before or after your runs, and especially on the Sunday recovery sessions. Add in other mobilization exercises as you see fit. Recommended to hold each stretch for 1:00 or more per side.

- Cat/Cow
- Cobra To Pike
- Mountain Climber
With A Twist & Knee Out To The Side
- Kneeling Adductor Stretch
- Foam Roll Quads
- Jefferson Curl
- Couch Stretch
- Foam Roll Glutes
- 90/90's
With A Reach To the Sky
- Bench Pigeon Stretch
- Modified Bulgarian Lunge
- Gorilla Squats

3 Helpful Tips

1. To start jogging follow a timely pattern. Something as simple as 1:00 on 1:00 off/walking will do. Increase your jog time but maintain your walk time as the program progresses.
2. For the hill workouts, find a hill that you can jog/run up in about 1 to 2 minutes. Choose a hill depending on how challenging you want this to be. You do not need to do the same hill for all of your sessions but if you do, you'll learn its nuances and see your progress on it during the four sessions. Although challenging, these workouts are worth it. You do not need to sprint these hills but you should move up them in a strong, consistent manner.
3. For the 200 repeat days be sure to warm-up & cool down well. Take your time here. You are adding speed to the strength you've just worked so hard to develop. When adding speed, be sure to build into the repetition. These are not all out efforts, more like 80 to 90% speed. You should feel light, fast and be more on your toes with your running. If you cannot get to a track, then choose a flat piece of ground to do these on.

The Lay Of The Land

Weeks 1-4:

Building time on feet phase. If running isn't part of your routine yet, choose a power walk. Just be sure to walk with purpose!

Weeks 5-8:

We've increased time on feet. Now is the time to keep that going and add run strength workouts on Thursdays.

Weeks 9-12:

Endurance is up. Hill strength is solid. Now let's add speed and power.

Pro Tip:

Be sure to warm-up and cool down well during these days. They are workouts after all.

Week 1

The goal for the first 3 weeks is to build time on feet SLOWLY. Week 4 will be a little break :)
